

We're open for small business

The Small Business Program provides free, easy to use services to help manage health and safety in your business.

The program is suited to Queensland small businesses that have limited or no safety systems in place.

Better health and safety can improve your business through:

- increased productivity
- lower running costs
- reduced down time
- better worker morale
- staff retention
- improved customer perception.

Free services to improve your business

Safety workshops

Workshops are held throughout Queensland, covering practical strategies and tools to manage work health and safety.

Workplace consultations

Small businesses can request a free, onsite consultation with a safety advisor for one-on-one assistance.

Presentations and information sessions

Safety advisors are available to talk to industry groups, managers and employees about workplace safety issues and managing risk.

Group sessions

Group advisory sessions are available for small businesses that are linked by industry, supply chains or location.
